The discussion session should cover the following topics:

* Services and Processes are different paradigms. What are the advantages / disadvantages ?

* How can Services and Processes interact ?

* Are single- (e.g. only services) or multi-paradigm approaches better suited for enterprise architecture ?

* Is service-orientation a better paradigm to architect enterprises than process orientation ?

* Will service-orientation follow process orientation in being the "ruling" paradigm ?